

ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER AUGUST 20, 1928, AT THE POSTOFFICE
AT TRYON, N. C. UNDER THE ACT OF CONGRESS, MARCH 3, 1879

THE TRYON DAILY BULLETIN

The World's Smallest DAILY Newspaper, Seth M. Vining, Editor.

5c PER COPY

TRYON, N. C. THURSDAY, NOV. 2ND, 1944

INDIANIANS BUY HERE

John B. Stokeley of the famous canning company, and Wm. E. Munk of Indianapolis, Ind., have purchased through G. Harrison Bridgeman the 225-acre tract of land south of Tryon along the road just below the state line in South Carolina where it joins the Hunting Country. The property was bought from the James P. McMakin heirs, who are located all over the United States. It took some weeks to locate them to complete the trade. The property had been in the McMakin family since May 2, 1853, when it was purchased by James P. McMakin from O. L. Edwards. No information is available as to what the new owners intend to do with the property. Mr. Stokeley has visited Tryon during the past year.

WILL BE AT TOWN OFFICE

The U. S. Employment Service, which for some time has been located on Thursday mornings at the old city hall, will be located beginning Thursday, November 7, at the Town Office next to Hotel Tryon.

Mrs. Ruth Allison, representative of the U. S. Employment Service of Hendersonville will be here each Thursday morning from 10:30 to 12:30 and will be glad to render service to applicants seeking jobs and to employers in this area. Also, all veterans who have been discharged from service are asked to contact Mrs. Allison regarding job opportunities and general information they may desire.

CURB REPORTER

Weather Wednesday: High 71, low 50; rain (Tuesday night) 1.53 inches. One would have expected it to be cold yesterday after such a big rain. Instead it feels almost like spring. And the claims Tryonites have been making as to what's growing and blooming on their places one would think it was spring. One reports violets up, another a pear tree in bloom, another spirea, etc. . . . Americans and Japs in big battle on Leyte. Several U. S. warships were hit in invasion. Allies making headway in Holland and Belgium as shipping facilities of Antwerp become available. . . . Interest in this year's election in Polk has increased considerably due to the activities of the Republican headquarters which is putting on an active campaign with newspaper advertising, cards, and even a radio address. . . . A distinguished visitor in Tryon is Max Werner, a guest at Mimosa Inn. Mr. Werner has contributed numerous articles to Redbook, Reader's Digest and other periodicals. The October Redbook has an article from him titled, "How They Perish" an account of activities in Germany. Redbook says, "Max Werner's amazingly accurate forecasts of military events have established him as one of the leading analysts of the war." . . . If you are tired, mentally or physically, take a ride or hike to the Tryon Coun-
—Continued on Back Page—