

ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER AUGUST 20, 1928, AT THE POSTOFFICE
AT TRYON, N. C. UNDER THE ACT OF CONGRESS, MARCH 3, 1879

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

The World's Smallest DAILY Newspaper. Seth M. Vining, Editor.

5c PER COPY

TRYON, N. C. TUESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1945

CURB REPORTER

Weather Monday: High 83, low 59 Jap surrender papers to be signed in 10 days. Tokyo says some Jap army groups might revolt Quizzing trial underway WPB wipes out 210 controls over industry. Bans lifted on radios, refrigerators and trucks, photographic film, and 200 other items. Things are beginning to hum all over the world. It is good to see Chevrolet advertisements appearing in the Bulletin again. Enoch Prather says his organization is making plans to take care of all Polk County Chevrolet needs. . . . A tropical storm is due to hit Florida today Col. Arthur Smith has left at Arledge hardware a collection of old pipe—antiques. Some are one, barrel, two barrels, and six barrels. . . . Miss Barbara Lincoln, riding in Belgium in an American Red Cross truck met an American Army Major who asked her where she was from. He says she said, "Asheville." Then the officer asked, "Do you know anything about Tryon?" He turned out to be a former Chattanooga representative of the Southern Mercantile Co., and wrote W. C. Ward about meeting Miss Lincoln For the third time Arthur Godfrey has mentioned Tryon on his morning CBS broadcast. Monday morning he gave quite a lengthy account of letters he had received from

---Continued on Back Page---

ROBERT A. WARD

Hendersonville.—Robert Alonzo Ward, 59, railwayman, died at a local hospital Monday morning from injuries suffered in an automobile accident Sunday afternoon in Hendersonville.

According to Henderson County Coroner J. F. Brooks, a car driven by Mr. Ward collided with one reported to have been driven by U. G. Anders, at the intersection of First avenue east and Grove streets. Mr. Ward suffered head injuries which were not thought serious, but he was taken to the hospital and never regained consciousness.

Mr. Ward, who for 43 years had been a railroad man, was the switch tender for the Southern Railway on Saluda mountain. He was a native of Henderson county.

Funeral services will be held from the Thomas Shepherd Memorial chapel at 3 o'clock (today) Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. Bee Early, of East Flat Rock, and the Rev. Nane Starnes of West Asheville officiating.

RECTOR'S BUY HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Rector have bought from Mrs. Bertha Nessmith her Dogwood Terrace home on Berry street, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Covington. Mr. and Mrs. Covington have bought Mrs. G. E. Morton's house in Valhalla.

Twelve million pounds of dry salt pork will be offered for sale by the CCC in an effort to relieve acute civilian shortages of meat in the Southern States.