TRYON, N. C., THURSDAY, DEC. 19, 1946

Weather Wednesday: High 55, low 40, rain .88 . . . President Truman believes prosperity will continue next year if people stay on the job. Every idle worker means less prosperity. Production increases wealth for all . . . A loaded school bus was hit by a train 7 miles below Spartanburg Wednesday; 11 killed and 11 in the hospital w.th serious injuries. Blind fog-shrouded crossing . . . Below freezing weather here today, but fair; rise in temperature predicted for Friday . . . A number of people have asked why Trade Street is not decorated with Christmas lights this year. There are several reasons. A few weeks ago when there was time to plan for the lights the coal strike was on and the government was asking for dimouts and only a minimum of lighting anywhere. It would have been unpatriotic to light up the town. The spirit of Tryon is always in harmony with the best interests of the people as a whole. Mayor F. P. Bacon took the matter up with the Town Manager C. O. Smith and President of the Chamber of Commerce C. D. Stevens. They conferred with other officials and found a shortage of materials.

PROBE OF ELECTION IRREGULARITIES WILL REQUIRE TIME

Washington, Dec. 18.—Charges of irregularities in the use of absentee ballots in the Polk County sheriff's election are being thoroughly investigated by the Department of Justice, but there will be considerable delay before any action is taken on them.

Assistant Attorney General T. Lamar Caudle, chief of the criminal division, said this afternoon the Department was not in a position to disclose details of the investigation of charges brought by Claude Y. Nanney, Jr., of Union Mills, Republican defeated by veteran Rep. A. L. Bulwinkle of Gastonia.

Nanney's charges or irregularities in the use of absentee ballots covered 50 typewritten pages, Caudle pointed out, adding "this means there is a great deal to be done; it will be some time before the probe is done."—The Spartanburg Herald.

SHOOTS 34 POINTS
