

ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER AUGUST 20, 1928, AT THE POSTOFFICE
AT TRYON, N. C. UNDER THE ACT OF CONGRESS, MARCH 3, 1879

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

The World's Smallest DAILY Newspaper. Seth M. Vining, Editor

5c PER COPY

TRYON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JAN. 1ST, 1947

Today is New Year's and it starts off rainy, gloomy, depressing. The Bank and Post Offices are closed. The stores will be closed this afternoon. Out of doors is uninteresting. An open fire place is inviting. A book to read, work to do, or listen to the New Year Bowl games will claim many who are not sleeping trying to recover from the effects of seeing the old year out and the New Year in.

Maybe the Psychodrama program at the Lanier Club on Thursday afternoon will tell some of the things to do to get people out of mental ruts A big moment for all interested in the future of this section will be the presentation of the first calf from the 4-H Club Foundation to a deserving 4-H Club boy Friday at Rotary. It is so important that WSPA will broadcast the event direct from Tryon for the benefit of all its thousands of listeners.

All persons interested in the Tryon Hounds should save this copy of the Bulletin because it has the schedule of rides for the month of January. Hotels and inns should post it on their bulletin boards Spartanburg Herald weather forecast says "sleet

Continued on Back Page

WSPA To Broadcast From Tryon Friday At Rotary Meeting

Farmer Gray and his staff will come to Tryon Friday to broadcast the Rotary Club meeting at 1:15, from Oak Hall hotel. Telephone men were in Tryon Wednesday making the necessary connections with the studio in Spartanburg. This is the second time this has happened to Tryon. And this time is a result of action taken the first time, about a year and a half ago.

The first broadcast was made when Dr. Arey, head of the State Dairy Extension service addressed a joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs. At that meeting Farmer Gray suggested the formation of a 4-H Club Calf Chain by which deserving boys and girls would be loaned purebred calves to raise, the calves to become the property of the 4-H Club members when they returned an offspring to the committee in charge. The idea was considered an excellent one by the Rotarians and Kiwanians. The Chamber of Commerce was invited to participate and a chartered 4-H Club Calf Foundation was formed by the three organizations.

A few months later, that fall, at the Kiwanis meeting, 25 purebred calves were bought and presented to 4-H Club members in a public ceremony in the park near the depot. Mayor F. P. Bacon bought the first calf and it was loaned to Ray Wilson, and given the registered name of "Mayor Bacon's Alpha." The calf now

Continued on Back Page