

ENTERED AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER AUGUST 20, 1928, AT THE POSTOFFICE
AT TRYON, N. C. UNDER THE ACT OF CONGRESS, MARCH 3, 1879

The Tryon Daily Bulletin

The World's Smallest DAILY Newspaper. Seth M. Vining, Editor

5c Per Copy

TRYON, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JAN. 29, 1948

Weather Tuesday: High 71, low 29 . . . Day after tomorrow is the last day in which to list your taxes. If you have bought property you must list it with the tax listers. If you have sold any see your tax lister right away and have it taken off the books or you may be paying taxes on property you have sold . . . Tryon All-Star basketball team played two basketball games the past few days for the benefit of the Infantile Paralysis Fund. They played Mauldin, S. C., at Mauldin for the fund and Mauldin came to Tryon for the benefit of the local fund. . . . Dorothy Morton in her Spartanburg Herald-Journal TRYON-ality column reports reading Inglis Fletcher's "Toil of the Brave" which features the big part our Blue Ridge Mountains played in the Revolutionary War . . . Tryon Public School is in need of a 50-ft. flag pole. Who wants to contribute a pole or go in with somebody else to get one? Notify Supt. L. K. Singlev . . . Robert Michael and Harold Jay, who represent Hoyle Brothers of Asheville, dealers in all steel Quonset buildings, had their first ad in Tuesday's Bulletin. Mr. Michael leaves the Tryon Bank on February 1st

Continued on Back Page

TUESDAY'S RESULTS OF POLK SUPERIOR COURT

[By Monte Dedman]

Miller Scruggs, of the Green's Creek section of Polk County, drew the highest sentence of the Polk County Superior court for Tuesday's session.

Young Scruggs, veteran of World War 2, was charged with robbing a man he had given a lift on his truck coming out of Spartanburg to Polk County. The plaintiff alleged that he was forced to give the defendant a sum of money, and after that Scruggs drove on and left him stranded.

The defendant Scruggs, said that he was only having "fun" with the man.

In passing sentence of 2 to 3 years in Central Prison, Raleigh, Judge J. Will Pless said, "This case could well be made a federal charge of kidnaping, with a sentence of life imprisonment; but as the plaintiff was unharmed in the act, and no other charges save that of robbery, it is the verdict of this court that such 'fun', as the defendant contends, should be a lesson to all who give persons a lift. No man who has fought for the principles of liberty and justice, should come back and commit such an unlawful act. I hereby sentence Miller Scruggs to hard labor for 2 to 3 years, and maybe that will take away the desire for such unlawfulness."

Other cases disposed of by the court were the following:

Frank Gilliam, Hendersonville; transporting illegal whiskey; $150 and costs, 2 years suspended sentence, good behaviour for 5 years, drivers license revoked for 5 years.

Continued on Back Page