Col. Philip Finn and Col. Thomas Poole will take the negative side of federal aid to education, in a debate between them and the affirmative represented by ex-college professor W. F. Bryan and Mrs. Jessie Daniel Ames, a prominent civic leader. What will they say? How will they present it? The public is invited to hear them tomorrow night at the Parish House at 8 o'clock.

VICTOR RANDALL

News has been received in Tryon of the death of Victor Randall on Tuesday morning at Miami, Fla. Mr. Randall had gone to Florida for his health last September after 20 years in the barber business in Spartanburg. He spent his childhood at Lynn, N. C., and at one time operated a store there before going to Spartanburg.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced. The body is now enroute from Florida to Spartanburg or Tryon. The message received here by relatives gave no details of plans. His wife, the former Miss Lorane Lane, and two children, Curtis Randall and Miss Ruth Randall, were with him in Florida. Another daughter, Mrs. Joe Ballard, lives in Spartanburg. Other survivors include a brother, Allen Randall of Lynn, Cletus Randall of Akron, O., and four sisters, Mrs. Faye O'Sullivan of Spartanburg; Mrs. Gill Norman of Gaffney, S. C.; Mrs. John Broome of Gaffney; Mrs. Sudie Elliott of Shelby, N. C.

New arrivals at Mimosa Inn include Dr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Meek of Scarsdale, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. George G. Bogert of Chicago.

Mrs. Albert Nickerson, daughter of Mrs. James H. Perkins, who has been staying at the Perkins home, the Cotton Patch, has returned to New York, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Albert Nickerson, Sr., who has been visiting her, also left for her home in Boston.

Whenever possible all notices of any kind to go in the Bulletin should be sent to the newspaper office the day before in order to be sure that they will be published. Early the next morning is often too late, because half of the paper has already been printed and not enough pages left for copy already in the office.
