Record Crowd Expected To Attend Farm & Home Week

Designed to be of interest to both men and women, the 1947 Farm and Home Week, to be held at State College August 25-29, will offer the expected record-breaking attendance entertainment as well as many new ideas on farm and home practices.

The series of demonstrations which are scheduled on practically every farm enterprise have been arranged to let both men and women see and actually take part. It is believed that through this type of training, the subject matter can be better explained and more easily grasped. Several sections will be in progress at the same time so the farmers and their wives, can take advantage of the subjects in which they are most
