TRYON, N. C., THURSDAY, AUG. 14, 1947

Weather Wednesday: High 89, low 69, humidity 59 . . . Ed Goodyear was toting a box of merchandise Wednesday from the depot across Trade Street to Missildine's corner. The new traffic light was working then and Mr. Goodyear stopped on the red light signal and went across on the green. During that time motor traffic was held up a moment for him. Seems to be clicking all right. While the electricians were adjusting the timing of the lights traffic of all kinds in four directions was stopped as promptly as if the light had been there all these years. Blinker warning lights are being put up on the curve at Andrews Furniture Co., and at intersection of Hendersonville highway. A traffic STOP and GO signal will be put up at intersection of Howard and Trade between Pierce-Wilson Motor Co., Ballew's Grocery and Rector's Cleaners . . . There is always room for hope but the Lanier Library is looking for "Great Expectations" by Dickens, and what seems almost impossible, an "Age of Innocence" by Wharton; and can you imagine this: an old Ladies Home Journal of May 19, 1947. Anyone having

TRYON SCHOOL FACULTY ADDITIONS NAMED

James Robert Gibson has been employed as principal of the High School and teacher of English. Mr. Gibson is a native of Inman, S. C., but more recently has made his home with his sister, Mrs. Ralph Williams, of Tryon. He received his education at Wofford College and the University of South Carolina and at Peabody and Furman where he did graduate work. Mr. Gibson received his M.A. degree from the University of South Carolina in June.

Before entering the service, Mr. Gibson held responsible positions with the Parker School District in Greenville, where he spent five years. During the recent war he served with the 712th Tank Battalion and with the U. S. Group Control for Germany. He has been very active in Scout activities, having served for three years as Field Scout Executive for the Boy Scouts of America.

Mrs. B. H. Smith of Spartanburg has been elected to teach the second grade. Mrs. Smith is an experienced teacher having taught the past ten years at High Point. She has her M.A. degree from Peabody and is especially talented Peabody and is especially talented was done at Converse where she received her A.B. degree in music.

Mrs. Lois Smith Beatson, wife of war veteran, Edward Beatson, who was one of our High School graduates the past year, has been employed to teach the sixth grade. She received her education at Winthrop College and at Asheville College. Mrs. Beatson is also an experienced teacher, having taught
