

New Picture on Exhibit At Lanier Library

"Christmas in the Hills", painted from imagination, depicts a candlelight service for children and was inspired by the many small white frame churches within the 20 mile radius of Tryon. This picture is hung as the Christmas Art Exhibit in the Holden Reading Room of the Lanier Library.

Constance Reynolds, who has her studio in the Pacolet River Valley contributed this in the Spirit of Christmas—and it can be seen in the Library until Jan. 1.
