

"THE FAMILY UPSTAIRS"

For their second presentation of the current 10 week season, Vagabond Players at the Lake Summit Playhouse turn to the Broadway comedy hit, "The Family Upstairs" beginning Tuesday, July 4th, at 8:30 and continuing through Saturday, July 8th, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30.

"The Family Upstairs" was written by Harry Delf and became one of producer Sam Harris' greatest hits at the Gaiety Theatre in New York. Since then it has been a perennial favorite with summer stock audiences. The play has achieved popularity with every member of the family, probably because it is a comedy dealing with the folksy and heartwarming adventures of average American life.

Ross Manning, Don Dubbins and Cort Westover, members of last summer's company, make their initial bow this season as father, boy friend, and dress designer, respectively, supported by Peggy Deane, Nina Bailey and Muriel Fleit. Players making their debut on the Playhouse stage are Warren Ames, who joined the Vagabonds in Florida and Pat and Tommy Orr. The production is directed by Zack Waters with an appropriate apartment setting by Arthur Bayer.
