Scott May Set Congress Race For November

Raleigh, Sept. 6.—Governor Scott said today he thought a special election to elect a successor to Rep. A. L. Bulwinkle in the 11th Congressional district should be held at the time of the general election in November.

Scott said that Secretary Raymond Maxwell of the State Board of Elections had informed him it would require at least 30 days to hold a special election and "I wouldn't see the value of holding a special election 30 days in advance" of the general election.

Under the law, the Governor is charged with the duty of calling a special election when a congressional vacancy occurs.

Rep. A. L. Bulwinkle died last week.

If a special election is called in the 11th district at the same time as the general election, voters in the district would choose a congressman for a short term ending in January and for a two-year term beginning in January.

Woodrow W. Jones of Rutherford is the Democratic nominee in the 11th district for the two-year term.—Asheville Citizen.

IT'S UP TO US!

Whether the war news is good or bad, each day brings its toll of wounded. And in almost every case, the first treatment—the treatment that saves hundreds of lives otherwise doomed—is blood or plasma transfusion. Whether or not that life-giving blood is available depends upon us, the civilians, who as yet have been called upon for almost no other service. Can we possibly fail our soldiers in their desperate need? Every resident of Polk County between the ages of 21 and 60 (18 to 21 with written consent of parents), who is in normal health, should feel it his or her most urgent responsibility to be at the Parish House on Monday, Sept. 18, between 1 and 6 in the afternoon to donate a pint of blood. Appointments may be made by calling 340 or 110-W, and transportation will be furnished when necessary. Small children will be cared for while parents donate.—Contributed.
