Published Daily Except . (Est. 1-31-28) Saturday and Sunday 5c Per Copy ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER AUGUST 20, 1928, AT THE POSTOFFICE AT TRYON, N. C. UNDER THE ACT OF CONGRESS, MARCH 3, 1879 World's Smallest Seth M. Vining, Editor DAILY Newspaper. (Vol. 24-No. 17) TRYON, N. C WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1951 9oct51 Chinquapin Dairy To Build Milk Processing Plant The Spartanburg Herald of today has a front page picture of Ernst Mahler Jr., looking over plans for $135,000 milk processing plant for Chinquapin Dairy to be built at Inman, S. C., on two lots located on Highway 176 near the Bush freezer-locker plant.

Weather Tuesday: High 65, low 51, rain .15, Rel. Hum. 73 . . Reds begin drive against United Nation Forces in Korea. . . . Tonight at 8:30 at Oak Hall another showing will be given of motion pictures of Tryon Horse Show 20 years ago; also pictures of the 1936 Olympics at Berlin and of the Hunter Trials held here on December 9th. The public is invited . . . Tonight is also the Bridge-Canasta night at Lanier Library : . . This afternoon at Congregational Church House Madame Monteux plays early 18th Century music for the benefit of the library Mrs. Elizabeth Rhodes loaned her hat stretcher to some friend and has not been returned to the Exclusive Shop. She needs it Everybody is bragging about the nice spring weather.

The address of Dr. and Mrs. Newton Middleton who sail on the 14th for a visit to their daughter in England is: Dock 88, North River Pier, Liberte, French Line, New York City.

Friends in Tryon may wish to send letter, telegrams or greetings of some kind to them. The ship sails at noon, March 14th. Dr. Middleton writes that they are likechildren at Christmas time, almost too excited to sleep.

Mr. Mahler stated to The Bulletin Tuesday that the new plant would be a one-story brick build-ing 100x77 feet with large plate glass front and would house three modern pasteurizing machines, bottling and washing equipment, stainless steel coolers, holding room, and ice cream makers; also a 33 ft milk shake counter with seats for 16 people. The entire front parlor will be 48 feet in length. Parking space around the building whi take care of 60 to 70 cars. The capacity of the plant will take care of 1,000 gallons of milk daily. The homogenizer will handle 300 gallons per hour. Milk will be bottled and capped at the rate of 60 quarts per minute, assuring quicker delivery than has been possible during the rapid growth of the business.

Work on the new plant is expected to begin this week-end. Pace Associates of Chicago are the architects and Fiske-Carter Co., are the contractors.

Rudolph Pursley, a graduate of Clemson College will be the manager of the new plant.

Chinquapin Farm, owned by Ernst Mahler Sr., had the first Grade "A" Guernsey herd in Polk County. Ernst Mahler Jr., built a new pasteurizing plant at the dairy last fall and the business soon outgrew itself, said Mr. Continued on Back Page