Shirtsleeves In Church

From Winston-Salem, N. C., comes a suggestion that most male churchgoers will welcome.

The Rev. Thomas A. Fraser, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, invited members of his congregation to come to church in shirtsleeves if they wish.

In extending the invitation, he said: "I do not believe it makes any difference to the Good Lord what one wears to church, but I believe it makes a difference whether or not you come. If a tie or a coat are standing between you and worship of God, eliminate them and eliminate them quickly."—Editorial in Spartanburg Herald.
