Weather Monday: High 92, low 67, rain .04, Rel. Hum. 65 . . .
Funeral services were held Monday morning in Weaverville for O. B. Jones who died Friday. He was a former teacher in Tryon schools and his wife the former Miss Sallie Willie Hunter, taught school at Columbus . . . Money given to Church and School buildings is not giving. It is really investing. We own such property, just as we all own the Country Club. The directors of the club operate it; the members hold title to it, but every citizen here really owns it, especially property owners, for without the Country Club to furnish recreation there would be many less people here. The stores would have fewer customers; the lawyers, doctors, architects, and other professional people would have less business and even the smallest property owner would suffer in the loss of value to his holdings. The Country Club here means increased value from $100 to thousands of dollars to the homes in this area. The directors are trying to increase the value and services of the club by having a pro house where the professional can live and keep in closer touch with the club members. About $500 is needed to start this project. Your investment of $10 to

Hildreth Rites Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Florence Gollan Hildreth, 64, wife of John C. Hildreth, who died Monday morning at 8:30 at St. Luke's Hospital, following two months illness, will be held Wednesday afternoon at 4 at McFarland Funeral Home. Burial will be in Tryon Cemetery. Dr. Edmund M. Wylie will officiate.

Mr. and Mrs. Hildreth had recently moved into their new home on Wilderness Road, after about two years residence here. She was born in Illinois.

The deceased is survived by her husband, John C. Hildreth of Tryon; her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Gollan of Western Springs, Ill.; a son, John C. Hildreth Jr., Chagrin Falls, Ohio; one sister, Mrs. E. A. Button, Western Springs; three brothers, W. E. and Baron A. Gollan, Western Springs and Robert S. of LaGrange, Ill., and two grandchildren.

HERE FROM TURKEY

Miss N. Elizabeth Nash, who has been teaching physics at the American College for Girls at Istanbul, Turkey, has arrived in Tryon for a month's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Nash at their home, Tanglewood. Miss Nash is also a niece of the Misses Dianne, Ann and Margaret Nash. She will enter the University of Wisconsin this fall for work toward her master's degree.

The annual picnic of the Tryon Methodist Church will be held at Harmon Field Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 15th, at 5. Transportation will be furnished for anyone needing it by calling 26-J.
