

MRS. SARA RUSHING

Mrs. Sara M. Rushing, 54, of Tryon, died at 1 p. m. Monday at St. Luke's Hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Rushing was born at Marshville and had lived in Tryon about 25 years. She was chief telephone operator here.

Surviving are her husband, S. R. Rushing and two daughters W/O Nellie M. Rushing of Fort Bragg and Mrs. R. C. Maynard of Hamlet.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by McFarland Funeral Home.

The 1951 non-certified barley throughout North Carolina showed more loose smut than usual. One field was observed that showed 36 per cent loose smut heads—called black heads by some farmers. Farmers wishing to produce high yields of barley showing no more than a trace of smut should use certified Colonial 2 seed, suggested small grain specialist at N. C. State College.
