Vol. 24—No. 292 TRYON, N. C.. FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1951

Weather Thursday: High 69, low 58, rain 1.83, Rel. Hum. 65 . . . The inconvenience of the rain should be overlooked by those who realize the soil still needs lots of water. . . . Miss Sarah Moore of the State Department, Washington, D. C., is in Tryon on business today . . . Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Dickinson, who operate Victory Manor at Greensboro, N. C., are subscribers to The Bulletin. Mrs. Dickinson teaches school and plans to use The Bulletin in class discussion of newspapers, according to J. Frank Gallimore . . . Tryon people who have helped get together clothing for the suffering in Korea would be proud of the work they are doing could they read Joe Dedman's letter. Joe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Monte Dedman, writing from Korea, said the condition of the people there is terrible. He said the children there have practically no clothing to wear, only what they get from kind hearted soldiers and sailors. "I gave some boys some beans from our ship's service and they were so grateful it made me feel better. I have never felt better giving anyone anything in all my life. The other day a man had on a pair of pants and a shirt. They were so thin you could see through them. It was raining and the wind was

TRYON THEATRE LEASED

The Tryon Theatre has been leased to the Stewart E. Everett Theatres, Inc., of Charlotte for a period of 10 years, according to announcement Thursday by R. E. Brantley, owner and manager of the local theatre.

Mr. Brantley became sole owner of the theatre some time ago when he bought the interests of Russell S. Walcott and Samuel A. Bingham.

The Everett Theatres operates a large chain of theatres and Mr. Brantley stated Thursday that it was a good concern and able to supply the community with the best pictures and service.

Mr. Brantley, who took over the management of the theatre shortly after the death of Charles W. Nessmith and later bought a third interest, was recently appointed chairman of the ABC Commission for the Town of Tryon.

Sweatt Horse Wins At Madison Square Garden

Rose Salome, owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sweatt of Wayzata, Minn., and Tryon, took first place in conformation in the Hunter Class at the National Horse Show held in Madison Square Garden, New York City, according to information received by Ernst Mahler today.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweatt are members of the Tryon Riding & Hunt Club and take a leading part in promoting riding and jumping activities in the community.

Senator Robert Taft will visit North Carolina Nov. 27, 28, 29 on a lecture tour and will also visit groups at Asheville, Sedgfield and Durham.
