"That's the Spirit" is the heading for the following item in the Eufaula, Alabama Tribune: "A Columbus, N. C. grocery store owner, advertising his goods in the Tryon, N. C. Bulletin, adds, "There are two other good groceries and four service stations in Columbus." To the owner the other firms are friends, not competitors." This is just another example of how well advertisements in the Bulletin are read by people all over the nation, says the Curb Reporter.

C. O. Hearon of the Spartanburg Herald Sunday said he asked Miss Capps at Missildine's, what the people were saying about this warm weather. She replied, "I asked a gentleman from Chicago, who has been here for 20 years, when he was going to build a house and settle down in Tryon." "Just as soon as I am able to determine what sort of weather you have down here he replied."

Dr. Clarence V. Kerr, late president of the Ohio Osteopathic Clinic of Cleveland, Ohio, announces the opening of an office in his home on Carolina Road, in Gillette Woods, for the limited practice of osteopathy.
