CHRISTMAS ATMOSPHERE AT ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL

Nobody wants to be sick at Christmas but those of our friends who are in the hospital this year haven't missed all of the Christmas Spirit by any manner of means, this year, as always, St. Luke's has been decorated with a Christmas tree and evergreens and holly and one visitor commented that he had never seen the hospital look as lovely and that the Christmas atmosphere was noticeable the minute one entered the building. A real Christmas gift to each patient was a lovely evergreen wreath, tied with a big red bow and decorated with a tiny reindeer or some other Christmas ornament. These wreaths were made and donated by the Girl Scouts of the Intermediate troop, and were hung on each patient's door. A real evidence of the Christmas spirit to the staff of the hospital as well as to those confined in hospital beds during the holiday season. The special services committee of the Hospital Auxiliary wishes to thank the girl scouts and the troop leader, Mrs. H. O. Stoudenmire, for their very real contribution to the atmosphere of Christmas happiness and thoughtfulness at the hospital.—Contrib.
