JUNIOR HORSE SHOW ATTRACTS LARGE CROWD

By MONTE DEDMAN

Tryon's Annual Junior Horse Show here Wednesday attracted one of the largest crowds of any such event in several years.

Competitors and Spectators from several states were on hand to have a part in the show, as well as many local names in the equestrian activities.

The annual event brings out some of the country's best juvenile riders as well as some of the best horses.

Jane Pierce Gagnier was chairman of this year's Junior Show, which had six classes. Sue Tucker Rindall of Hendersonville was the judge.

Winners of the different classes for first, second and third—with blue, red and yellow ribbons were as follows:

Class No. 1—Lead Line: Lindsey Schooler, Detroit, Mich.; Diane Collyer, Minneapolis, Minn.; Richard Pierce, Detroit; Bess Pierce, Jacqueline Brown and Mike Joy of Crystal Bay, Minn., all winners of blue ribbons.

Class No. 2—Horsemanship, 13 Years and Under: First place, Bucky Reynolds; second place, Edith Hanna, Spartanburg; third place, Betty Reynolds.

Class No. 3—Horsemanship, 14 to 18 years: First place, Libby Hanna, Spartanburg; second place, Lindsey Shuford, Asheville; and third place, Suzette Gagnier.

Class No. 4—Jumping, 13 years and under: First place, Bucky Reynolds, Tryon.

Class No. 5—Jumping, 14 to 18 Years of Age: First, Betty Haight,
