

ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER AUGUST 20, 1928, AT THE POSTOFFICE
AT TRYON, N. C. UNDER THE ACT OF CONGRESS, MARCH 3, 1879

THE TRYON DAILY BULLETIN

The World's Smallest DAILY Newspaper.

Seth M. Vining, Editor

Vol. 25—No. 71 TRYON, N. C. THURSDAY, MAY 8TH, 1952

Weather Wednesday: high 91, low 65, Rel. Hum. 40. Save your Tryon Daily Bulletins by the week in order to keep up with important dates. Some people punch holes in the margin, run a string through and tie them together in monthly sections. Some hotels get more than one copy in order for their guests to read the news without having to wait for another guest to get through. The Flower Show today, Bridge Tournament Friday and Saturday, Square Dance Friday, Political meetings, Church meetings and social parties are making this a busy week in Tryon, Polk County and Landrum. . . . Cowan's Super Market is celebrating its 19th year in business this weekend and representatives from various food supplies are here to help Mr. Cowan meet hundreds of customers. . . . Today is President Truman's Birthday and former Sgt. Howard Greene says we should have our flags displayed because it is also V-Day anniversary. . . . Greenville County Officers assisted by Tryon Police arrested Frank Johnson Wednesday morning and charged him with shooting Earle Plumley with a shotgun. Plumley is in St. Luke's Hospital for treatment. . . . A healthy sign is the keen interest

Continued on Back Page

BRIDGE THIS WEEK

By Betty Steiner

The Tryon Duplicate Bridge Association will hold its second Annual Tournament this weekend at Oak Hall. This year there will be a mixed pair event on Friday evening at 8 o'clock as well as a two session game on Saturday to decide the open pair championship. There will be handsome section trophies for both events as well as the lovely trophy offered by Oak Hall which must be won three times before it becomes the possession of its winner.

The requests for reservations for Bridge players are coming in thick and fast and there will be very fine bridge played at Oak Hall this weekend and we hope all Tryon players will be there competing—and non-players kibitzing.

Last year our open pair event was won—not by any of the master pairs—but by a charming young Spartanburg couple, who play a very nice game—but were as surprised as the visiting masters when they made the top score.

The game will be conducted by Stanislas Czetwertynski, who is director of the Charlotte bridge league and conducts many outside tournaments in the Carolinas.

All the players are being entertained after the Saturday evening game at a buffet supper.

FLOWER SHOW TODAY

The Tryon Garden Club Flower Show will be open this afternoon from 2 to 8 tonight. Those who have seen the arrangements this morning as final touches were being put on the decorations were high in their praise of the beautiful display of flowers.