TRYON, N. C.

THURSDAY, MAY 22ND, 1952

Weather Wednesday: High 80, low 56, Rel. Hum. 47. . . . The Railroad and Labor dispute settled after three years. Workers get a raise in wages but not as much as they wanted Roads go back to private ownership after three years of government control Railroad Agent C. A. Pye of Tryon reported this morning that between 35 and 50 members of the Hendersonville Elementary School Third Grade were scheduled to arrive in Tryon by train today at 12:54 noon. They will be under the leadership of their teacher, Miss Joyce Shook. Parents of the young people will meet them here and take them home by automobile. Tryon's Fourth Grade went to Hendersonville by train Wednesday and The Times-News featured that 14 of them had never ridden on a train. The Tryon children were shown through the newspaper office there, the Coca-Cola plant and other places and had picnic lunch before returning to Tryon In an article on the "Open House" at Berkeley Mills at Balfour this coming Friday, Jimmy Fain writes, "Berkeley hopes that several thousand Henderson County neighbors will attend the party and see graphically how this industry fits into

George Brannon Resigns From St. Luke's Hospital

Announcement was made today that George S. Brannon, member of the Board of Trustees of St. Luke's Hospital, has resigned his post effective immediately. Mr. Brannon resigned for reasons of health.

In announcing Mr. Brannon's resignation, it was stated by the hospital's board of trustees, "It is with great reluctance that we accede to Mr. Brannon's request that he be relieved of the position he has filled so faithfully and successfully. He has been of great assistance to the board of St. Luke's, especially with regard to his sound and able advice on financial matters. It is with the deepest regret that we accept his resignation."

His successor will be announced in a few days.

Dr. George F. Taylor spoke to the Tryon Kiwanis Club Tuesday at Oak Hall on "Peace". Dr. Taylor stated that you have to make a determined effort to have peace and that more effort and money should be spent on ways of peace. The speaker felt that we don't do enough thinking from the Christain point of view.

Dr. Taylor was very pleased with the United States' present Point 4 program in which we have strived to help other people to help themselves. He felt that as long as people are hungry and unfed there would be unrest in the world, but that economic help alone would not be sufficient because people of all races want to be
