A number of newspaper food editors from Cleveland, Pittsburg, Philadelphia, New York, etc., are in Spartanburg observing the gathering and shipping of peaches . . . Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Brantley leave Saturday afternoon for Chicago to attend the Democratic National Convention. The North Carolina delegation will be at the Hilton Hotel. Mr. Brantley is the first delegate from Polk County in about 25 years. Kefaufer supporters have already called on in Tryon to get his vote. Most

North Carolina delegation members are for Senator Russell of Georgia . . . Tom Costa and associates are opening up building sites on the big plateau ridge between Tryon peak and Skyuka, claimed by many to be one of the most beautiful spots in this entire region. A road has been built to the property and surveyors are at work mapping out tracts of land for home builders. A prize is to be offered the person giving the most suitable name for the new development. Everybody is invited to visit the ridge and then give suggestions for a name to Mr. Costa. The development commands
