

THE TRYON DAILY BULLETIN

The World's Smallest DAILY Newspaper.

Seth M. Vining, Editor

Vol. 25—No. 141 TRYON, N. C. THURSDAY, SEPT. 25, 1952

Weather Wednesday: High 77, low 48, Rel. Hum. 47 . . . Nixon to stay on Republican ticket as Eisenhower says ticket mate stands "Higher Than Ever" . . Duplicate Bridge Tournament tonight at 7:45 at Oak Hall . . Pep rally at the Tryon school with bon fire to get ready for Friday night's game with Mars Hill . . Five of the 80 ft. poles had been installed at Harmon Field by 11:30 this morning and people from far and near have been watching the work. Extra dirt had to be hauled in to fill up the nine ft. holes. The same dirt that came out of the holes not enough even though the poles took up extra space. The dirt is packed so tightly that it takes all the original dirt and more

INVITED TO FAIR

Newcomers to rural North Carolina during the past year will again be guests of the N. C. State Fair in 1952, says Robert W. Shoffner, assistant director of the State College Extension Service. Free tickets good for gate, admission any one day of Fair Week, October 14-18 will be sent to all who request them and who qualify as "new farm citizens."

Shoffner, who is assistant to Dr. J. S. Dorton in the manage-
----- Continued on Back Page -----

MRS. D. MARVIN WILKINS

Rutherfordton—Mrs. D. Marvin Wilkins, 68, died suddenly at home here early Wednesday morning.

Funeral services will be held in First Methodist Church of Rutherfordton Thursday at 3 p. m.

Burial will be in Gray's Chapel Methodist Church cemetery.

She is survived by her husband, four daughters, Mrs. Mary Locklee, Mrs. Sue Robinson and Mrs. Bill Walker of Rutherfordton and Mrs. Robert Parkingson of Salley, S. C.

Also two sons, Charles and Creed Wilkins of Rutherfordton; two brothers, Charles Pearson of Charlotte and Giles W. Pearson of Saluda.

She was the daughter of the late Captain Charles W. Pearson and was active in the First Methodist Church and Daughters of the Confederacy.—Asheville Citizen.

LIGHTING FUND GROWING

Public spirited citizens are coming forward with contributions to help pay for the lighting of Harmon Field in time for the first football game Friday night, according to Seth M. Vining Jr., chairman of the group of solicitors appointed by the Chamber of Commerce.

New contributions came in on Wednesday from the following: John A. Stephenson, Mrs. Norme Frost, Ted Fox, C. E. Willard, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McFarland Jr., C. J. Beaver, Moss-Foy Textile Co., Southern Mercerizing Co., Howard Frankenfeld Jr.

Checks may be made out to Harmon Field Lighting Fund and sent to Chamber of Commerce, Bulletin office or left at the bank if it's more convenient.