

[Est. 1-31-28]

Published Daily Except
Saturday and Sunday

[5c Per Copy]

ENTRED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER AUGUST 20, 1928, AT THE POSTOFFICE
AT TRYON, N. C. UNDER THE ACT OF CONGRESS, MARCH 3, 1879

THE TRYON DAILY BULLETIN

The World's Smallest DAILY Newspaper.

Seth M. Vining, Editor

Vol. 25—No. 284 TRYON, N. C. TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1952

No official weather report is available. Forecast: cloudy, occasional rain. Ike appoints Ezra Taft Benson of Utah as his secretary of agriculture. T. Woods resigns as price control chief. Says law not strong enough. Korea getting ready for Eisenhower's visit. . . Many Tryonites and religious leaders getting ready for Dr. George F. Taylor's first of a series of four lectures on the Epistles and I, II Thessalonians tonight at 8 at the Parish House. . . . Please phone or send to the Bulletin the names of your holiday guests to help make the Bulletin a newsy letter for the men the armed forces and for those hundreds of friends scattered all over the nation who would like to be here but can't. . . Mr. and Mrs. A. Tanner Banning will return Wednesday to Pittsburgh, Pa. after a visit with Mrs. Banning's mother, Mrs. Wayne V. O'Neil. . . Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson C. Falkner of Long Island are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bradley. . . Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Falconer will have as guests for Thanksgiving Mrs. Falconer's niece, Mrs. Jerome H. Rushby and Mr. Rushby of Charlotte.

The M. Parish-Watson Collection of Art is to be installed at the Mint Museum of Art, Char-

----- Continued on Back Page -----

HOSPITAL BIDS RECEIVED

Bids have been received by the Building Committee of St. Luke's Hospital for the new wing which will be added to the existing structure. It has been found that the original estimate of $150,000 will not be sufficient due to increased costs of labor and materials. This, fact, plus certain extras which have been found necessary, due to increased costs of operation, will probably make the final costs somewhere in the vicinity of $175,000. The architects are now busy negotiating and redesigning according to our present pocketbook and needs.

The announcement was made by C. D. Stevens, hospital board president.

The North Carolina Medical Care Commission, which, under the Hill-Burton Act, will bear 71.1% of the new wing's cost, has agreed to permit a 15% increase in the building cost on the basis of present plans, "due to the Korean war", and will thus contribute that percentage. Under the sharing plan embodied in the Hill-Burton Act the local share of the hospital's new wing cost will be 27.9%.

This community's share of the originally projected cost of approximated $42,000 but due to the increased costs as indicated in the bids received, the local share will be at least $50,000, with the NCMCC assuming the balance of the obligation, expected to be at least $122,000.

To date, $30,000 has been contributed locally. It will therefore be necessary to receive approximately double that figure before

----- Continued On Back Page -----