Remember the Red Cross Goal

$4,170,000 available in '51-'52 for emergency needs.

3. In the year ending June 30, 1952, the Red Cross collected 1,681,500 pints of blood for U. S. hospitals, and sent 2,439,700 pints to the armed forces.

4. In 289 separate disaster operations last year, your Red Cross helped 32,000 families. The total cost of disaster relief was $19,938,529.

This is only a partial accounting of how your last year's donation was spent. This year your contribution must be stretched even further—to care for more men in uniform, and to produce the Gamma Globulin that may keep your child from being paralyzed. Give as generously as you possibly can.
