A fine example of early American architecture which may be seen during the Pilgrimage of Colonial Edenton and Countryside April 10-11 is the Booth House, on North Granville St., in Edenton, N. C. It is now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leland Plant, but takes its name from a former owner, Robert Booth, who resided there during the late 1700's.—N. C. News Bureau.

The "northern lights" often seen at high latitudes in the United States almost certainly originate in streams of particles—probably protons and electrons—coming from the sun. Yet direct observational evidence for the emission of these particles from the sun is still lacking, says Dr. W. O. Roberts.
