The World's Smallest t TIE -No. 95

Seth M. Vining, Edit N. N. C. FRIDAY, JUNE 12TH,

Weather Thursday: High low 64, Rel. Hum. 65 . . . Landrum Baptist Church members are planning their 150th birthday Sunday, June 21, when 800 people are expected to take part either in the service or with the dinner on the ground. Dr. C. Penrose St.'Amant, New Orleans, noted historian, will be chief speaker. Public invited . . . Another important birthday is that of James R. Trowbridge, who is 82 today. His leadership in reorganizing the Country Club at a critical time; his leadership in expanding the activities of the Rotary Club; his contributions to the educational and agricultural development of the county as a whole have placed him in the top ranks of notable citizens who have rendered outstanding community service just for the love of serving their fellowman. We join the many others in honoring him with our appreciation . . . The whole county is getting ready to buy brooms and mats from the Lion Club members. Money derived from these brooms help the blind. A noble A noble cause. Who can afford not to buy one or more?

Mr. and Mrs. Ben White will have as guests for a few days Mrs. White's sister, Mrs. Ernest Kopf, Mr. Kopf and ther son, Christopher, and friend, Miss Mary Jessup, all of New York.
