TRYON, N. C. TUESDAY, SEPT. 8TH, 1953

Weather Monday, Labor Day: High 86, low 56 . . . Supt. J. W. Taylor of the Tryon Water Works Dept. reports that 19 million gallons of water was used during August by consumers of the Tryon Water Works. The increase in the water facilities by the town made this possible . . . The official publication of the Montana State Chamber of Commerce had several pictures of the Charles C. Wests in the current issue, as a result of Mr. and Mrs. West and daughter, Mary Kathleen, attending the Outdoor Writers meeting this summer at Missoula, Montana. Miss Mary Kathleen was initiated into the Brithershood of Jungle Cocks, an organization that promotes cooperation and good sportsmanship . . . S. W. Kershner of Arlington, Va., is a guest at Oak Hall while making tests on Hogback Mountain for the proposed television tower of WORD. It is said that the tower will be one of the highest of its kind in Eastern America . . . A new tennis champion was made Monday when Tony Trabert, 23-year-old ex-sailor from Cincinnati defeated Seixas at Forest Hills. N. Y., 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 for the national championship. Bud Palmer, Lefty Flynn's son, did the announcing for the entire series, assisted by Don Budge, former tennis cham-

Need For Blood Continues

Many are asking: "Why is there such an emergency need for blood? The war's over!" The answer is: "There's always urgent need for blood." Medical research is constantly finding new and important uses for blood derivatives. Daily, lives which only a short time ago would have been lost are being saved—by the use of human blood and its derivatives.

The Asheville Blood Center last week reported its reserve supply of blood at a dangerously low ebb. The blood supply, upon which we of Polk County depend in our emergencies, can be built up only by voluntary contributions here and in the other communities served by the Asheville Center. If even one life should be lost because blood was not available, how deeply we would regret it if we'd been "too busy" to go to Blood Bank!

So plan to come on Friday, Sept. 11, between 12:30 and 6, to donate your pint either at the Parish House in Tryon or at Stearns School in Columbus. Baby-sitters will be on duty at both places. For transportation call Tryon 53 or Columbus 2245 or 2162.—Red Cross Reporter.
