Vol. 26—No. 19 TRYON, N. C. THURSDAY, DEC. 3, 1953

Weather Wednesday: High 59, low 25, Rel. Hum. 38 . . . President Eisenhower backs Secretary Dulles in speech against Senator McCarthy . . . TODAY is Bloodmobile Day at the Parish House beginning at 12:30. All those who are able, patriotic, neighborly, and helpful will gladly donate. Some of us can't for various reasons. Many are donating their time or other services where they can't give blood. The spirit is the same. Even the selfish man is donating for he realizes that unless the county donates enough blood he will not have any to his credit should an accident or illness overtake him . . . Congratulations to Brownlow Martin, formerly of Tryon, now president of the Green Hill Community of Rutherford County which has just won the top rural community contest for making the most improvement in community life, such as roadside markers, diversified farming, cleaner approaches to the community, neat mail boxes and other things that let the world know the people have some pride who live in that community. Eventually it will be a crime to throw paper cartons, drinking cups, or trash of any kind in the streets. People of good manners don't do it now. Aesthetically speaking Tryon belongs as much to people outside the city

ANOTHER INVITATION

Once more we call your attention to the open house to be held by the County Commissioners and the Home Friendly Club this Saturday from 2 to 4 at the court house..

We hope you will come to see the pictures of the boys, and especially to find the expressions of their appreciation of what you people of Polk County did in the support of them during the two wars.

We hope you will be as interested as are the men in the court house who have been most kind and cooperative in helping us. and are already planning on where to place the flags!—Home Friendly Club.

Noted Carolinians Join Board Trustees of Vagabond School of the Drama

The Vagabond School of the Drama, Inc., at Flat Rock, N. C., announced today through its managing director, Robroy Farquhar, that five distinguished citizens of the Carolinas have accepted membership on the organization's Board of Trustees. They are Roger C. Peace of Greenville, S. C., publisher of the Greenville News-Piedmont, who has recently acquired the Asheville Citizen-Times; I. E. Johnson, well known merchant of Hendersonville; Newton Duke Angier of Flat Rock, an executive with the S&W Cafeterias and Select Foods of Hendersonville; Frances Walker of Brevard, associate editor of the Transylvania Times; and Mrs. Virginia Biggerstaff, society editor of the Forest City Courier.

The following trustees continue to serve as permanent members:
