TRYON, N. C. WEDNESDAY, DEC. 16, 1953

Weather Tuesday: High 52, low 26, Rel. Hum. 43 . . . Christmas is a time when everyone's mind turns toward God and the fellowship of family and friends, said Tommy Patrick, toastmaster at the annual Duke Power Company Christmas party at Oak Hall on Tuesday night. A program of string music was given by the Thompson ensemble of Spartanburg and Christmas songs were sung by Duke employees and their guests from all over the Tryon district. Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Bowen, of Gastonia, Mr. and Mrs. John Brookshire, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Geddings of Spartanburg, Miss Elizabeth Early of Greenville, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sloan of Hendersonville. Gifts were presented each person present and special gifts were presented through bingo games. Mr. Brookshire was the chief speaker and was high in praise of Mr. Bowen who has been promoted from Tryon to Gastonia, and of Mr. Patrick, whom he had known since Tommy was a little boy, and had observed him throughout his career in Chester, S. C. He is tops in personality, efficiency and loyalty to Duke Power Company. Mr. Brookshire said loyalty comes before friendship because there are times when you have to say "No"

THE PORT OF NEW YORK

The Kiwanis Club saw a movie on the Port of New York at Oak Hall hotel. The film showed the freight coming in and out of the port by trains, trucks, planes, ships and showed how it was moved from one place to another by modern machinery. The movie pointed out that 200,000,000 tons of commerce passed through the New Jersey-New York Port each year and that it took a half a million people to keep the port operating smoothly and efficiently.

Guests of the club were J. B. Johnson, Charlotte; Rupert Koch, Hendersonville and Leonard Porter of Tryon. Albert Simpson was in charge of the program.
