

HOW TO KNOW

YOU'RE GROWING OLDER

Everything hurts and what doesn't hurt, doesn't work.

The gleam in your eyes is from the sun hitting your bifocals.

You feel like the night before, and you haven't been anywhere.

Your little black book contains only names ending in M.D..

You get winded playing chess.

Your children begin to look middle aged.

You finally reach the top of the ladder, and find it leaning against the wrong wall.

You join a health club and don't go.

You begin to outline enthusiasm.

You decide to procrastinate but then never get around to it.

Your mind makes contracts your body can't meet.

A dripping faucet causes an uncontrollable bladder urge.

You know all the answers, but nobody asks you the questions.

You look forward to a dull evening.

You walk with your head held high trying to get used to your bifocals.

Your favorite part of the newspaper is 20 years ago today.

You turn out the light for economic rather than romantic reasons.

You sit in a rocking chair and can't get it going.

Your knees buckle and your belt won't.

You regret all those mistakes resisting temptation.

You're 17 around the neck, 42 around the waist and 96 around the golf course.

You stop looking forward to your next birthday.

After painting the town red, you have to take a long rest before applying a second coat.

Dialing long distance wears you out.

You're startled the first time you are addressed as oldtimer.

You remember today, that yesterday was your wedding anniversary.

You just can't stand people who are intolerant.

The best part of your day is over when your alarm clock goes off.

You burn the midnight oil after 9:00 p.m.

Your back goes out more than you do.

A fortune teller offers to read your face.

Your pacemaker makes the garage door go up when you watch a pretty girl go by.

The little gray haired lady you help across the street is your wife.

You get your exercise acting as a pallbearer for your friends who exercise.

You get too much room in the house and not enough in the medicine cabinet.

You sink your teeth into a steak and they stay there. —

In Concert

Patrick Cauble

Patrick Cauble, visiting artist at Isothermal Community College, will present a vocal, guitar and lute concert in the library auditorium on the Isothermal Community College campus on Saturday, January 26, at 8:00 p.m.

It will be Cauble's first formal concert since he began his one-year visiting artist residency at the college last fall.

The program will feature guitar solos with music from the Romantic and Classical periods, lute solos with music such as the familiar "Greensleaves" from the Renaissance period, and songs ranging from Renaissance to modern and varying in mood and theme from sad laments to bawdy ballads. One of the contemporary songs he will sing with guitar accompaniment will be "Five Quiet Songs" by the English composer John Duarte.

A native of Ohio, Cauble considers Charlotte, North Caro-
