

Mrs. F. Ashmore

Mrs. Christine G. Ashmore, 67, of Landrum, S. C., widow of Freeman Ashmore died Thursday at 8:20 a.m. at Camp Haven Nursing Home in Inman.

A native of Anson County, N. C., she was a daughter of the late James and Jessie Brooks Griffin. She had retired from Bommer Industries, Inc., and was a member of the Landrum First Baptist Church.

She is survived by her stepmother, Mrs. Faustina Griffin, Marshville, N.C.; two sons, Jimmy Ashmore, Landrum and Billy Ashmore, Myrtle Beach, S. C.; three daughters, Mrs. Mary Lawson, Lyman, S. C., Mrs. Joyce Wessinger, Landrum and Mrs. Judy Edney, Columbus; two sisters, Mrs. Brooks Carruth, Landrum and Mrs. Ethel Traywick, Marshville; three brothers, William Griffin, Charleston, Barck Griffin, Marshville and Harold Griffin, Charleston, S. C.; 12 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Petty Funeral Home federal action to protect farmland from erosion.

Americans strongly support the small family farm concept, and think federal policies should help preserve and protect them. (But most people also know that most of their food comes from large farms.)

More than 8 of 10 Americans rate themselves "moderate to high" on a conservation ethic scale and believe conservation is important for the country.

By more than 2 to 1, Americans say gasohol should receive more federal support than synthetic fuels. Gasohol is seen as more likely than synthetics to reduce oil imports, keep down gasoline costs and less likely to damage the land.

Even though their own participation is rather low (only 33 percent) Americans highly value citizen participation in federal decision making, including the topics mentioned above. They would participate more if they were sure their opinions were truly being heard.

A public meeting where concerned citizens can learn of the possible future directions of soil and water conservation programs will be held Tuesday, March 4 at 2:00 p.m. at the Ramada Inn in Hendersonville. You can voice your opinion there or submit it in written form to your local Soil Conservation Office, P. O. Box 236, Columbus, N. C. — Reporter

The Asheville Contemporary Dance Theatre will perform at Blue Ridge Tech, Hendersonville on March 8th at 8 p.m. and March 9th at 3 p.m. This is the only modern dance company in Western North Carolina.

COMMUNICATION

Come the time when good equal-rights wenches
Are tapped for manning the fox-holes and trenches
And our ships, fore-and-aft,
Will be the time when the draft
Has the men occupying park benches

GREAT DAY

COMMUNICATION IN RE GRID'S NEGATIVE RECALL

To recall by association
Naturally takes concentration.
But when bringing to mind
Two words of a kind
Don't abuse the imagination.

To wit:

A mem'ry linker one time begged
my pardon.
(Had her art'ries then strated to harden?)
Though my name evokes Eden—
Paradise without weedin' —
She said, "How do you do, Mr.
Garden."

The truth, so help me

Did You Know?

Did you know that....

Half of all Americans consider misuse of soil and water resources a serious problem.

Fifty-three (53) percent of all Americans say loss of good farmland is equally serious.

By a margin of 7 to 1, Americans feel we should accept

THIS IS THE LAW

Sponsored by The Lawyers of North Carolina
ALIMONY AND CHILD SUPPORT

A matter that appears in many divorce disputes is the question of alimony.

In North Carolina, alimony can be applied for by the spouse that is financially dependent on the other spouse. However, to obtain alimony the dependent spouse has to show that the break-up of the marriage was the fault of the other spouse.

It is possible for a dependent spouse to be awarded temporary alimony during the period of separation preceding the divorce action.

Parents are required to assume the financial responsibility for rearing their children. If the husband and wife are not able to agree on child support, the judge will make the decision based on evidence submitted to the court.

Alimony and child support can be negotiated and agreed upon even before filing the divorce action, or a separate lawsuit can be brought to settle these issues.
