Busy Night For Saluda Council

The Saluda City Council had a busy meeting Monday night. The council had a number of delegations present in addition to routine business.

The Council discussed the city sewer system, its problems and solutions.

Council voted not to set aside an area for sledding in the event of more snow due to the objections of property owners.

The Council agreed to allow the Saluda Arts and Crafts Assoc. to collect a vendors fee of $10 during the Coon Dog Festivities and have vendors selling from booths instead of on the street. A committee will be formed to coordinate the activities of Coon Dog Day and Mrs. Mildred Haywood will represent the town on the committee.

The Saluda Women's Club representatives asked that the town re-open the pavillion this summer. The Town agreed to open the pavillion if other groups would agree to supervise the operation of the recreation facility.

The Firemen agreed to make payment on the fire truck which was due.

The Council voted to purchase 8 trash cans to be placed at various locations in town.

Council instructed the police to remove any drunks in town by taking them home if possible.

The Council discussed the stray dog problem and took under advisement a number of proposed ordinances.
