Weather Wednesday: high 51, low 32, rain .33. Thursday morning it was still raining a little, but the weatherman promised better weather later in the day. Wednesday night 1-26 became icy and a number of minor accidents took place according to reports. For awhile the mountains and woods were pretty with snow and ice, but the rain washed it away.

The bond market is so chaotic that South Carolina canceled a general obligation bond sale that had been scheduled for Feb. 26th, state Treasurer Grady Patterson said Wednesday.

A young mother of two has become the second woman known to die in the nation's underground coal mines, as women miners take their place beside men and become grim statistics of the job. Eleanore Bowen, 25, of Williamson, W. Va. was killed shortly before midnight Tuesday in the P.M. Charles Coal Co.'s No. 4 mine in nearby Rawl, W. Va.

Overpayments have jumped past the billion dollar a year mark in the government's largest welfare program, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, the Social Security Administration

Lynn Scoggins Is Named Young Career Woman

Mrs. Lynn Scoggins of Tryon was named "Young Career Woman of the Year" by the Thermal Belt Business and Professional Women's Club. Mrs. Scoggins, who is director of student services at Limestone College, will represent the Thermal Belt BPW in a state-wide YCW competition at the convention in Canton on April 20th.

Judging was based on the candidate's career achievement and ability to project an image reflecting the role of today's young women in society.

A graduate of Tryon High School and Limestone College and Kings College, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Ernst of Tryon. Her husband is Jeff Scoggins, also of Tryon. She has been active in the Mother's March for Birth Defects, the bike-a-thon for Muscular Dystrophy and is a member of the Episcopal Church of Holy Cross.

Other nominees were Mrs. Phyllis Crain of Green Creek, who teaches language arts at O. P. Earle Elementary School in Landrum and Mrs. Elizabeth McCallister of Landrum who teaches French at Tryon High School.
