

Junior Horse Show Saturday April 12

The Tryon Riding and Hunt Club Junior Horse Show, a major spring event for some 30 years, will be held Saturday, April 12, at Mrs. Willis E. Kuhn's Cotton Patch Farm in the old hunting country. First of the 14 classes will begin at 9:30 a.m., and the show will continue into the late afternoon with a 30-minute recess for picnic lunch after Class No. 7. Admission is free, as is parking.

Competition will be open only to junior riders who have not reached their 19th birthday before show day. Mrs. Cari Williams of Chicago will judge all classes.

Co-chairmen of the show are Mrs. Kuhn and Mrs. Edward D. Beatson, and Mrs. Irene C. Acker is steward. Course designer is Edward D. Beatson, president of the Riding and Hunt Club.

The Junior Horse Show has since 1954 been presented in one of Eastern America's most attractive and best known equestrian facilities. In the early 1950's, Mrs. Kuhn and her late husband, "Bill" Kuhn, had the ring and outside course designed and built for the use of the U. S. Equestrian Team which trained in Tryon for the 1956 Olympics. Photographs of William Steinkraus, Frank Chapot and other team members and the famous mounts performing at the Cotton Patch were published in the Saturday Evening Post, Sports Illustrated and dozens of newspapers. Hundreds of amateur photographers took pictures and film footage for their own use.

But the purpose of the Cotton Patch show arena was not limited to Olympic riders. Thanks to the Kuhns' lifelong interest in encouraging youngsters to participate in showing and foxhunting, many young riders show at the Cotton Patch and go on to win at Madison Square Garden, Toronto, Washington, Harrisburg,

It was voted to pay the bills for the plat files for the Register of Deeds Office from the next year's operating budget.

Paul Culberson explained the program of the Western Carolina Tomorrow and said that the top four programs were: Employ-
