

Opening Tonight

The air-conditioned Flat Rock Playhouse swings into the second half of the summer season with the enduring and endearing comedy, "A Full House", opening tonight.

Fred Jackson's comic play had a tremendous success in New York in 1915, with a young actor in the juvenile lead named Ralph Morgan. He later became a star in the movies.

In the Vagabond Players cast, directed by J. Rixon Hammond, are John Brawnya, W. C. Burton, Jane Bushway, Janelle Cochran, Pat Fuleihan, Tom McClary, Libby McNeil, Theresa O'Shea, Paul Pierce and Steve Washer. In supporting roles are Patti Eversman, Rhonda Hensley, David Oxendine and Wayne Tetrick.

A reckless youth writes letters to a chorus girl, but they get into the hands of a not-so-upright attorney who puts them in his briefcase. A burglar, who has stolen jewelry from the rich youth's mother, gets his loot-laden satchel mixed up with the lawyer's briefcase and in his efforts to recover his plunder,
