No official weather for the weekend, but it was good for outside activities. It had several good opportunities to rain, but only a sprinkle hit the Tryon area.

The Wolfpack News (N. C. State) reports that the shortstop position on the baseball team is up for grabs between Dave Conway, who played in 12 games last spring along with signee Mike Sprouse of Tryon.

The strikers in Poland seem to have obtained most of their demands and have reported back to work.

The combined picnic of the Columbus and Rutherfordton Organic Garden Clubs on Sunday, Sept. 7th which was to have been held at Lake Lure will instead be held at the solar heated home of Warner Stewart, 3 miles north of Rutherfordton. Those going will meet at the Agriculture Extension Office in Columbus at 12:45 p.m. to car pool. Please bring a dish to share.

In what one scientist calls "an utter tragedy", almost 1,500 mice involved in $1 million worth of research were killed when an apparent computer malfunction sent temperatures at a University of Southern California

Local Production To Hit The Road

"An Evening With Cole Porter," the mini-musical which made such a hit in Tryon at the end of May, is bouncing back to life on the road in a few days.

Starting Thursday, Sept. 11, and running Friday, Sept. 12, and Sunday, Sept. 14 skipping Sat., Sept. 13), the smash hit will reopen with the original Tryon cast at the Flat Rock Playhouse.

Christine and Stephen Fitch will star in the singing leads again but on the road they will resume their professional names. Known on the world's stages from London to Broadway to Adelaide they will once more become Stephen Douglass and Christine Yates.

Once more Michael Bertelsen, the Tryon narrator who spoke and sang so well, will resume his familiar role. So will Billy Jones of Greer, the piano accompanist with the nice tenor voice.

From Flat Rock the "Evening With Cole Porter" show, which was written and produced by Eugene Warner of Landrum, will move on Sept. 18 to Gaffney, S. C., where it will play before a large audience of local theatre-lovers and students at Limestone College.

Next stop will be in Asheville Oct. 2 and Oct. 4 in a benefit for the Deerfield Episcopal Retirement Center, two performances brought about through the good offices of Mrs. Robert Pershall, formerly of Tryon.

Buy Home

Mr. and Mrs. Hillard P. Bulger formerly of Glen Falls, N. Y. have purchased a home on Barber Street, Columbus, from Mrs. Millicent C. Watson. Mrs. Watson is moving to Stuart, Florida.

Bob Mueller of Dean Butler Realty, Inc. handled the transaction.

Delinquency Prevention Task Force Meeting

The Delinquency Prevention Task Force meeting is Friday at 12:30 p.m. at The Meeting Place. To make reservations call 859-6500 by 9:30 a.m.

Hensons' Fifth In Nat'l Tourney

Henson's Softball team lost Sunday night in the champions bracket, 9-8 to Larry's Cabinet of Washington and then suffered their second loss Monday to RMI 10-3 to be ousted. Henson's finished fifth overall among the 39 team field at Hamilton, Ohio.

In the first round Hensons defeated Chiradatics Association of New Mexico 8-2 and then beat Sequia Bobcats at California, 8-4.

Miss Patricia Payne has returned to UNC-Charlotte for her senior year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Payne of Tryon.

New Pastor For Seventh-day Adventist

Elder Wayne A. Martin has moved from Charlotte to assume his duties as pastor of the Tryon Seventh-day Adventist Church. He is living near Fingerville.

Elder Martin was born in Iowa and grew up in Michigan. After receiving his B.A. degree from Union College in Lincoln, Nebraska, he did graduate work at the Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary in Washington, D. C.

He has pastored churches in Kansas City, Missouri, Memphis, Tennessee, and Tullahoma, Tennessee.

Martin has served as President of the Thailand Mission, which included Laos. His ten years in Thailand were in two stints: 1946-1952 and 1958-1963. He was a departmental director in the Carolina Conference for seven years, the most recent department being Stewardship and Church Development.

Martin has also been assistant director of the Communication Department at the World Headquarters of Adventists in Washington, D. C.

His wife, Etoile, is a native of Michigan. They have two grown children. Their daughter, Mrs. Judy Port, spent three years as a missionary in Peru and now lives in Calhoun, Georgia.

Their son, Wayne A. Martin II, is a respiratory therapist and
