The Iranian Parliament is to debate today on the fates of the American hostages.

President Carter is scheduled to attend a barbecue beginning at 1:55 p.m. today at the old National Guard Armory (City Hall) on Groce Street at Lyman.

Kays Gary in Sunday's Charlotte Observer devoted his column to his return to Polk County to visit A. D. McMurray who had phoned him that he could pick up the desk. The desk belonged to Mrs. Frances Adams of Northampton, Mass. who had a home on White Oak Mountain from 1925 to 1945. Mrs. Grace Coolidge (Mrs. Calvin) visited Mrs. Adams at her place on the mountain. According to Mr. McMurray, both ladies used the desk. "It isn't an old desk, probably 60 years old. It is simple, heavy, sturdy oak — the top stained with an imprint of scissors and a letter opener. But it's a little bit of history. Touchable. Irresistible."

Sept. 20 — 26 is Indian Heritage Week in North Carolina. With

T.W.G.A. News

"Blind Bogey" was the event of the day for the Tryon Women's Golf Association at the Tryon Country Club, September 9. The winners were: Marie Pearson, Betty Gibson and Hazel Teunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Branch Chapman of Nocona, Texas are visiting relatives in this area and will attend the Chapman Reunion on the 21st in Transylvania County. Mr. Chapman is a graduate of Tryon High School and played on the Tryon football team.

Mrs. Helen (Lynch) Hudson of Tryon attended a seminar at Isothermal Community College over the weekend where she received training in Laubach for tutoring reading and reading disabilities with the Adult Classes she instructs on Tuesday and Thursday nights at Roseland Center.

Tiger Band Highlights Game

The Tryon Tiger Band performed at halftime at Friday night's football game. Drum Major Eddie Dunton brought the crowd to their feet as he performed a front somersault over the band to open the half-time show.

The Tiger Band performed a well executed show to the music of Pagliacci, and Torna A Surriento, which featured Trumpet soloist Austin Neal.

The Tiger Band is made up of a large number of eighth, and ninth graders, which in most schools would be considered a junior high band, but through the leadership of upper classmen Carolyn Roff (woodwinds); Jennifer Lashua, Martha Dye, Bill Leidheiser, (brass); Winfred Suber, James Henson (Percussion); Kara Flynn, (flag squad); and Drum Major Eddie Dunton, they perform as a quality high school band.

The Tiger Band will be performing their show at all home football games to prepare for competition in the second annual Harrison Elliott Landrum on October 4th. — Band Reporter
