Senator Robert Morgan was at the Democratic Headquarters in Columbus last Friday afternoon. He said that inflation was the single biggest problem facing the nation and that the tremendous increase in the cost of oil was one of the primary causes. He said that the nation was making progress in meeting the challenge, by decontrolling oil and natural gas, increasing the miles per gallon automobiles will go, developing synthetic fuels and utilizing solar energy and wind energy, and practicing conservation.

He said one of the greatest perils facing this country is the power that single issue groups now have. He said that they don't look at the overall record of their Congressman, but whether or not he voted "right" on a particular issue. He gave as illustrations the ERA, Panama Canal, abortion, etc.

Mrs. Morgan Morris of Tryon had as her guest, her son, Phil of Charlotte.
