PROGRESS, NOT PROMISES

FOR POLK COUNTY
PEOPLE OF ALL AGES

DURING THE PAST TWO YEARS, PROGRESS HAS BEEN THE THEME OF POLK COUNTY GOVERNMENT

Working in bipartisan cooperation with state, regional, and federal officials, Opal Sauve has provided progressive leadership in paving the way for new programs and economic development with no increase in taxes.

She worked quickly and efficiently to set goals and to put priorities in order. The result was that Polk County citizens, young and old, are reaping the rewards of her labors.

A juvenile delinquency prevention program was established, providing for our troubled children temporary foster homes and an alternative educational program, and drug education for our young people.

Opal initiated a Community Schools program for Polk County schools and worked hard to see that programs for all ages were promoted.

Her sound fiscal management provided for a record amount of money to be put into school budgets.

In the 1978-79 county budget, (the year before she took office) capital outlay actually decreased, but during the last two years the budgets include a 99.9% increase in capital outlay money. Money to improve classroom facilities has risen from $72,700 to $145,322. Her commitment to education is evident in her dedication to the Polk County campus of Isothermal Community College. Her interest has led to active participation and expansion of the program.

And Opal didn't forget our senior citizens either! Many of them are enjoying hot meals and warmer homes because of Opal's interest in them and their problems. She has worked with both state and federal officials to bring the needs of Polk County's elderly to their attention.

Her commitment to progress has led to Polk County securing funds to construct sewer and water lines to the industrial park, and new jobs are at last a reality. (The water line is already complete and the sewer line is expected to be complete this fall.)

Her efforts have led to ambulance renovation for the St. Luke's Hospital EMS, medicare reimbursement from the State, courthouse improvements, financial aid to fire departments and many more progressive accomplishments.

Opal has indeed proven that progress, not promises, is possible in county government and that an enthusiastic county commissioner can make hard work and dedication pay off!
