These girls seem to be saying, "How do we start this thing?" It's Craft Time for the Girl Scouts during their Day Camp being held this week at the Miller Mountain Camp site on Howard Gap Road. The camp is from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and part of the day they learn various crafts.

Freeze Squash

By Jan Christensen, NCSU
Summer squash is easy to freeze at home for later eating enjoyment.

Select young squash with small seeds and a tender rind, suggests Dr. Nadine Tope, extension food specialist, North Carolina State University.

Wash the squash and cut into 1/2 inch slices. Blanch the slices in boiling water for three minutes, then cool the squash in cold water and drain.

Pack into containers, leaving 1/2 inch headspace. Seal containers and freeze.

Roses are red, Violets are blue, I shop at THE DANIEL CO., and so should you! adv. 19, c.
