A Rotarian for many years, Mr. Palmer has had an active interest in public service. He has been a frequent speaker at service clubs throughout the country. His talk will give insight of his many experiences.

Woman Of The Day

Jane G. Edwards

Named as Women of the Day during the week of Oct. 18 — 24 by the Thermal Belt BPW was Mrs. Jane Edwards. Mrs. Edwards is a Business Education Teacher at Polk Central High School.

A native of Rutherford County, she received a B.S. degree in Business Education and Social Studies from Appalachian State Teachers College. She has taught at Polk Central since it opened in 1960. She sponsors the school newspaper; is Junior Class sponsor; Homecoming Advisor; Young Christian's Club sponsor and co-ordinates the school-wide sales. She was named "Teacher of the Year" in Polk County in December 1979.

Mrs. Edwards was sec.-treas. of the N. C. Association of Educators last year and is the current president of the Green Creek Little League. She is a Sunday School teacher at the Green River Baptist Church and has been active in the Polk Central PTA.

Art Exhibit At Landrum Library

The Landrum Friends of the Arts current art exhibit at the Landrum Branch Library features the works of Mrs. Sue Campbell Atkins, Gowensville native, and presently a resident of Landrum. This exhibit will be available until Nov. 10th.

Mrs. Atkins calls her work as "transformation of nature." She uses materials on hand, these may be feathers, pine cones, driftwood, Money Plant, rice shells, fungi, apple seeds, etc. Her work has won blue ribbons for the past few years at the Blue Ridge Fair.

She paints in oils and is a musician. She has built a dulcimer by hand and learned to play it.

Pottery On Exhibit

Jan Ashmore of Tryon, N. C. is among the Western North Carolina Artists and Craftsmen selected for the Annual October Show at the Asheville Art Museum. Art works were selected for the show by the Curator of Contemporary Art from the High Museum, in Atlanta, Georgia.

Singing

There will be a Singing Saturday at 7 p.m. at the Blue Ridge Free Will Baptist Church featuring Don Atkins Singers and The Templettes. Rev. Robert Price is the pastor.
