International Harvester Co. has asked United Auto Workers union leaders to help the company slash $100 million in employment costs by next October. International Harvester is said to face losses of up to $500 million this year due to a soft market for its products — trucks, agricultural equipment and construction machinery.

North Carolina's total unemployment rate for October rose for the first time in 4 months. At 5.6 percent, the rate exceeded September's 5.4 percent but was considerably below October 1980's 6.4 percent.
