

Dobbyn Paintings At The Depot

Currently on display in the foyer of the Tryon Depot are portraits and drawings by a well known local artist, Elizabeth Mills Dobbyn. Liz Dobbyn is a member of the Mills-Mosseller family who are nationally known designers and produces of hand made wool rugs and tapestries. She began her studies in art and the violin at the age of nine. The violin was neglected in favor of easel and pallet and from the age of twelve to nineteen she studied art in New York with Penryhn Stanlaws R.A. N.A.; illustration and anatomy under Joseph Kimmell, N.A. and did further academic studies of anatomy under Robert Beverly Hale, former curator of American art at the Metropolitan Museum in New York. Her commissioned works hung in many homes in many states.

One of the portraits on exhibit is a drawing of the artist's brother Tom with rug needle in hand. Others being shown are a "trid" of John S. Mosseller, an oil on linen canvas of Julia Calhoun Williams, and one of the late Katherine Kerhulas Stone. There is a pastel drawing on masonite of the late Robert G. Mosseller and three interesting pencil drawings, two of skeletal anatomy entitled "Bones are fun" and the third a "Bronzino Version" after a Renaissance Italian portrait in the Metropolitan Museum of art. The public is invited to view the exhibit through the month of June.
