Boys In Skirts Violate Dress Code

An annual rite of passage — the dress code scuffle — popped up like the buds on the dogwoods last week at Polk Central High School.

As the temperatures rose, a couple of boys were led to wear skirts to school, and several others wore shorts, according to Supt. Dr. James F. Causby.

Both forms of attire are prohibited under a school system policy adopted last summer.

"Everytime it gets hot, some challenge the dress code," Causby said.

He said that when students are found in violation of the dress code, they are asked to find a way home to change their attire. If they have no way home, they are allowed to remain in school, but are instructed not to break the rules again.

The dress code, in effect for students in grades 7 - 12, states that a principal has the final word on appropriate dress and can cite any inappropriate dress.

Specifically outlawed are sunglasses, headwear, tank tops, shorts, clothes with excessive holes or with exposed midriff sections.

Anti-Litter Contest Chairman

The annual spring anti-litter contest sponsored each year by the Agricultural Extension Service and the Board of County Commissioners is shaping up for 1990. "We have been fortunate to have some energetic volunteers in this program," said John Vining, County Extension Director. "This year is no exception. A newcomer to the area, Mrs. Lois Hoic, has graciously agreed to serve as our anti-litter contest chairman. She is most interested involving Polk County residents in this worthwhile project," added Mr. Vining.

This is the fifth year of the spring litter clean-up contest.
