Jessica Tandy won the Oscar as best actress Monday night for her performance as a crotchety Jewish widow who becomes best friends with her patient black chauffeur in "Driving Miss Daisy." Miss Tandy, who is 80, becomes the oldest performer to win an Oscar. "Driving Miss Daisy" was also named the Best Picture of the Year.

Chiding federal budget leaders for hiding behind "phony, fictitious deficits," Sen. Terry Sanford said Monday that Social Security and other government retirement funds should be protected from budget consideration.

We received a nice note from Martin Hullender of Charlotte pertaining to the article about Tryon in last Sunday's Charlotte Observer. He sent some Sweet Shrub seed "to repay in a small way for the copies of The Bulletin for the Scout Museum."

Spartanburg County educators said Monday that it is not commonplace in South Carolina for teachers to cheat on the basic skills test to raise scores as CBS's

Polk Pitcher Outduels Heritage

Polk Central won a lowscoring pitcher's duel with Mountain Heritage on Friday 2-1 at Harmon Field.

Polk pitcher Timmy McCurry gave up only three hits and had 13 strike outs in the game, while Mountain Heritage pitcher Woody gave up only four hits.

Four hits were enough, however, when in the seventh inning Lenny Kukendoll was able to steal third and then score the winning run on a wild throw from the catcher.

McCurry was 2 for 3 at bat, and Shane Foy was one for one.

Correction

In a story Friday about Lisa Wilson, Polk County's new Director of Emergency Medical Services, it was incorrectly stated that the St. Luke's Hospital recently purchased an ambulance.

In fact, Polk County purchases all ambulances and leases them to the hospital EMS service. In July, under Wilson's supervision, the county will take over the entire EMS operation.

Nodine Wins Second SCAC Grant

Jane Allen Nodine, whose work is showing currently at the Upstairs, has won a second Visual Arts Fellowship from the South Carolina Arts Commission. Nodine first won the prestigious grant in 1981-82. She shares the distinction of having won twice with only two other artists — embroiderer Lee Malerich and painter and mixed media artist Judy Jones, who had a duo show at the Upstairs last year with Scot Belville. The work which won the grant for Nodine, the "Aegis" series is included in the Upstairs show.

Nodine is also a designer of fashion jewelry. Through her Spartanburg company, Hardware, she has sold her ethnic-inspired designs in the major apparel markets for years, according to a recent article in the "Greenville News." Winning the $7,500 grant will enable Nodine to concentrate a specific block of time exclusively on her painting. "It's a shot in the arm," she said.

The Upstairs is open from 2 to 4 Tuesday through Friday and from noon til 4 on Saturday. The current show features Nodine's work along with recent pieces by South Carolina furniture designer, Bob Doster.
