Weather Thursday: high 54, low 44, hum. 82% and at 7 a.m. Friday the precipitation was .26.

S.C. Upstate agricultural agents Thursday said a closer look at the multimillion-dollar peach crop indicates that last week's freezing temperatures destroyed up to half the potential harvest. Damage ranged from 30% in some areas to 100% in others.

Trees will be planted along E. Rutherford St. and N. Trade Ave. in Landrum and will replace flower planter barrels currently in place. Cost of the project is $50 per tree and is sponsored by the Landrum Beautification Committee. Those who would like to help with the expense may send a donation to Landrum Beautification Committee, c/o Mrs. Jack Stone, P.O. Box 504, Landrum, S.C. 29356.

Tonight at 7:30 the Polk County School Board meets at the Stearns Administrative Building in Columbus. Executive sessions begins at 6:30 p.m.

Tonight at 7:30 the Polk County Commissioners meet in the Commissioners Meeting Room in the courthouse annex. A public hearing will be held at 7:15 to

Periwinkle Theatre

Tues., April 24th, will be an exciting day for students at Polk Central High School. Periwinkle National Theatre for young audiences will be here to perform the play "Halfway There." This play has been performed all over the country including Kennedy Center in Washington, D. C. Lincoln Center in N.Y. and Detroit Institute for the Arts. Last year the play was performed at the Landrum High school and Tryon Fine Arts Center with great success and due to Katie Malone requesting that her school have the play we have raised the necessary money. I wish to thank all of last year's loners again, and thanks to this year's loners who are:

Faure's "Requiem"

On Palm Sunday afternoon, April 8th at 4 p.m., the choir of the Congregational Church will present Gabriel Faure's "Requiem." Although Faure used the traditional Latin text of the requiem, he is far from traditional in his musical setting of that service. His warm melodic sense, enriched by a unique and, for his time, daring harmony brings a very satisfying freshness to the requiem text — a text that has attracted almost every major composer from the earliest music to the present day.

In addition to the six movements from four, five and six part choir, the work contains two segments for baritone solo which will be sung by Russell Cloud. One movement for soprano will be sung by Emmie Mackay. Joseph Erwin will direct the performance and accompany at the organ.

Everyone is invited. — Reporter
