The temperature dropped 20 degrees between Friday's high of 86 and Sunday's high of 66. Low temperatures stayed about the same, from 52 Friday to 51 Sunday.

The humidity was 55 percent Friday, 85 percent Saturday and 65 percent Sunday.

An American educator held for three and a half years as a hostage in Beirut was released Monday afternoon, according to CBS News reports. A group calling itself the Organization of Islamic Dawn delivered an announcement Sunday to an independent Beirut newspaper saying Frank Reed would soon be freed.

Reed, 57, of Malden, Mass., is married to a Syrian Muslim woman. He was running the private Lebanese International School at the time of his abduction.

Damage to the environment of the Pee Dee River appeared to be minor after 5,000 to 10,000 gallons of sulfuric acid were leaked into the river from a derailed tank car.

Damage to the CSX Transportation train, track and trestle was estimated at half a million dollars.

Pedestrian Killed On Trade Street

Ellen Miller, 43, of Tryon was struck by a passing automobile and killed at 8 p.m. Saturday night on Trade Street across from Duke Power Co. in Tryon.

Ethel Harris, 81, also of Tryon was charged with criminal misdemeanor of causing a death by vehicle. Tryon Police Chief Nathan Shields said Harris did not realize she had hit a person until later that evening when she heard people discussing the accident at the Triangle Stop.

Police Officers went there to interview her. Shields said Harris told police that she knew she had hit something, but had not realized it was a person.

He said Miller was walking along with traffic in the street just as a rainstorm was ending and darkness was falling.

Miller was transported to Spartanburg Regional Medical Center by ambulance and was pronounced dead there at 10:30 p.m.

Tryon police officer Mike Lawing is investigating.
