The Carolina Camera Club will meet Tuesday, May 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Mural Room of the Tryon Fine Arts Center. Guests are welcome.

The first part of the program will be the critiquing of members' slides to help members determine how to take better pictures and to select the better pictures which will be eligible for the annual contest.

This month's program will be on Nature Photography and will be presented by Mrs. Carol Sauter of Tryon. Many area residents have seen some of Carol's pictures, such as "Bambi," the new born fawn she saw on a walk in the woodlands.

Carol attended photography school in Chicago with the idea of going into advertising and portrait photography, but marriage intervened and she turned to nature photography to further her love of nature and walking in the woodlands. She has lectured on nature photography in schools, colleges and clubs.

On Saturday, May 12, there will be a field trip and annual picnic at Pearson's Falls. Photographers are urged to come at 9 a.m. to take advantage of the early light conditions and use some of the techniques taught by Carol. Other members will be available to assist in demonstrating techniques of nature photography.

Bring your camera and equipment along with you picnic lunch. Rain date is May 19. There is a small admission charge to the park.
