Community Health Fair

A Community Health Fair will be held Wednesday, May 9 at the Polk County Campus of Isothermal Community College. The Fair, which is sponsored by St. Luke's Hospital and more than 15 other community organizations, will be opened to the public from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Medical and healthcare professionals will speak on a wide range of topics throughout the day. In addition to speakers, informative and educational videos will be shown in the college library; and free brochures and health literature will be available.

Another highlight of the event will be free medical screenings including height, weight, blood pressure, blood glucose and glaucoma screenings. Link Medical will provide free home kits for colo-rectal cancer screenings.

Hendersonville Red Cross will offer blood cholesterol screenings and health survey panels for a fee. All blood screenings require participants to be fasting a minimum of two hours in order to obtain accurate test results.

The Fair will be a true community event with more than 15 participants including: Alzheimers Support Group, American Cancer Society, American Red Cross, Blue Ridge Eye Associates, Department of Social Services, Diebetic Support Group, Emergency Heart Network, Hospice, Link Medical, Polk County EMS, Polk County Extension Homemakers, Polk County Health Department, Polk Mental Health, Steps to Hope, St. Luke's Hospital and others.
